

January 17th, 2008

There was some downtime today for updates...a little longer than we wanted but we are back up now. Hopefully next time it goes a bit better.

Besides that we are still working on our other projects. We hope to return to these projects when we have a little more free time.

Thanks for your continued support. For more updates continue watching www.dlmonitor.com